

Contents

Foreword by Temple Grandin, Ph.D.	xv
Preface	xxi

Sensory Integration

1

Choosing the right sensory activities	5	Finger painting	15
Twelve warning signs of sensory overload	5	Tactile food fun	16
To activity and beyond! Fifty ways to get them moving	6	Bite me: Recipes for edible clay	17
Learning to enjoy the outdoors	10	Child on a roll!	17
Outdoor bracelet	10	Swinging or spinning	18
Summer fun, winter fun	10	Gross motor activities	19
Bring in the great outdoors	11	Simon-says games	19
Sand table	11	Kid-friendly contact games	20
Sand table activities	12	Fine motor activities	21
The not-so itchy-bitsy spider	12	So all can color	23
A dozen things to do with a refrigerator box	13	Fidget toys basket	23
Bathroom sensory activities	14	Homemade fidget toys	24
Water, water everywhere (they wish!)	15	Hair bbb-rr-uu-sss-hhh?	24
		That sucks! Oral-motor development activities	24
		Balloonarama	26
		Fun with bubbles	28

The floor is so hard!	29	Clothing preferences—
Vision and seeing	29	both sides now	41
Larger than life	32	More on clothes	42
Figure-ground processing	33	Sleep on it	43
Sensory survival kits	33	Sleep tips for road trips	43
Teaching self-regulation	34	Pre-event strategy	44
Coping with painful sounds	34	Sensory diet for low arousal levels	45
Headphones and earbuds,		Distinguishing between pro and con	35	needs and rewards	48
Toe walking	35	Hands-on learning	49
What’s that funky smell?	36	Deep pressure inputs for desk time	49
Do you smell what I smell?	38	Please remain seated	50
That’s heavy!	38	You are now free to move
The human hamburger	39	about the classroom	50
It’s a wrap	39	Dealing with “stims” in the classroom	51
Hideout	40	Sensory goals on the IEP	51
Bean bags	40	That back to school smell	52
Comfort first when it		Your child’s other classrooms	52
comes to clothes	40	Unsafe, inappropriate,
		or just annoying?	53

Communication and Language

57

Inquiring minds ask	59	Fit the language support to the
Ask in reverse	60	child’s learning style	70
Five important words:		Tips for using your visual schedule	70
“I am here for you.”	60	Expressive or receptive?	71
Does he hear what you hear?	61	Assistive technology (AT) is more
First things first: Get his attention	61	than a keyboard	72
Jump right in	62	Environment impacts
Feed language in	63	speech development	73
When speech gets stuck	63	Maintaining a language-rich
Beyond single words	65	environment	73
Don’t sweat temporary lapses	66	The two-minute rule
Visual strategies	66	for conversations	74
Before using that visual schedule	68	The two-second pause for responses	74
When do we use a visual schedule?	69	Snack time: It’s not just
Visual crutches?	69	about the food	75

Time to say goodbye	75	Blueprint his work	92
Wordless books	76	Crossword fun	92
Jump-start literacy		When out of reach is a good thing	93
for concrete thinkers	79	The talking stick	93
Repetitive-language stories	81	I spy a conversation game	93
Make reading fun	82	Language in motion	94
Raise a reader:		At the movies	94
What parents can do at home	83	Night and day	95
Say what you mean,		Communication objectives
mean what you say	84	for an IEP	95
You loved the movie—		Reduce your student’s
now read the book	85	performance anxiety	98
Beware of idioms	85	Help peers understand
Go fish for idioms	86	language difficulties	99
Phrasal verbs	88	Why we talk	99
Homophones	88	Asking questions and
Flash cards: Pros and cons	89	making comments	100
Not just for tiggers: Trampoline fun	89	With my compliments	103
Profanity	90	The four steps of communication	104
Almost as easy as 1-2-3	91

Behavior

107

Strengths and weaknesses	111	Hostile or aggressive behavior	122
Don’t ask why	111	Game plan for meltdowns	124
What we “miss” in misbehavior	112	from bad to worse: How to
Behavior and personality:		avoid escalating a skirmish	125
Consider both	113	Peer power and
Collaborative discipline	114	the two-minute warning	126
Consequential learning	115	Flexibility required	126
“I’m angry!”	117	Fun tips to encourage
Sign language:		flexible thinking	127
Not just for baseball	118	Beyond the mirror: Memory books
Accentuate the positive	118	and photo travelogues	128
Construct a visual barrier	119	Helping a self-biter	128
Two-step redirect	119	Please remain seated	129
Fear of bathroom = Fear of the dark	119	The gentle way to criticize	129
Resistant/avoidant behaviors	120	This argument is over	131

I hear ya—and this argument is over	132	Sibling secret knock	137
A token system	132	“I can’t” time capsule	138
Deals and contracts	134	Proaction versus reaction	138
Watch what you reinforce	136	More about reviewing behavior	139
Seasonal interests all year long	137	More about enabling behaviors	140
Proximity praise	137	Just the facts, please!	144
		It was a good day	144

Daily Living

147

Matters of choice	149	To hug or not to hug	188
Winning isn’t everything?	152	Shared sibling activities	188
Just a minute?	153	Equal sibling time	189
Skill development through		The newspaper:
child’s play	154	Window on the world	190
Go ahead—scribble on the wall	155	Happy birthdays start here	191
Ideas for easing separation anxiety	156	A cake by any other name	194
Tips for happier haircuts	157	Uncommon gifts for
Tips for reluctant shampooers	160	uncommon kids	195
Nail trimming	161	Gift-getting etiquette	197
Just take a bite	162	Frame it	197
Helpful eating adaptations	163	Autism safety	198
Narrow food preferences	164	Safe in the yard	199
Cooking co-ops for special diets	166	Home safety for escape artists
Help for resistant tooth-brushers	167	and acrobats	199
Your friend, the dentist	169	When your child isn’t sleeping	200
Cuts, scrapes, and bruises	172	Relax through breathing	202
Managing the hospital visit	173	Explaining death to the
Help for a runny nose	173	child with autism	204
Potty training	174	Change only one thing at a time	204
Using public restrooms	174	Help the medicine go down	205
Adaptive clothing fasteners	176	A little more help	205
Stepping out	177	Spray vitamins	205
Snappy comeback	178	Reduce allergens,
Restaurant dining, autism-style	179	prevent ear infections	205
Moving to a new environment	181	Medications: Be thorough	206
When mom or dad is away	184	Start an autism book circle	208
Dress rehearsal for		So many books, so little time	209
special occasions	186

I can do it myself— the preschool years	211	I can do a lot of stuff myself— the older child	213
I can do more myself— as children grow	212	You can do it yourself— the reluctant child	214
		Guiding your child with autism to adulthood	215

Thinking Social, Being Social

219

Social referencing skills	222	Understanding emotions	236
Joint referencing	223	Identifying emotions	236
Social stories	224	Teach intensity of emotion	238
Ask him to teach you	225	Separate feelings from actions	238
Relating to the outside world	225	Understanding “polite”	239
Friendships with younger children	225	Anger management	239
Guidelines for developing play skills	226	We can work it out	240
Friend to friend	226	That’s private	241
Facilitate playground interaction	227	I need a break	241
First in line—for a reason	228	When “sorry” seems to be the hardest word	242
Custom board game	228	All’s fair?	244
Board game adaptations	229	The appropriate protest	245
Toy story	230	I predict that	245
Mine! Mine! Mine!	230	Asking others for help	245
Teach cooperation through play	232	Teaching honesty through example	245
Teach cooperation through food	232	Everyone makes mistakes	246
Theory of mind skills	233	A word about “normal”	248
Perspective taking	234

Teachers and Learners

251

It’s good for all kids	254	Avoid teaching compliance	257
Respect the child	254	Designated teacher	257
Walk a mile in these shoes	256	Small group versus large group	257
Probe beyond the obvious	256	Play to your child’s interests	257

Shrek’s social card	258	First-then rather than if-then	287
Privacy screen helps focus	258	Teach fluency/precision	287
Standing station	258	Seeing time	288
Hand fatigue	259	Program accommodations
Body warm-up for classroom work	259	and modifications	289
Houston, we have no problem		Homework homeostasis	291
with transitions	260	Appropriate IEP goals	291
The bridge to circle time	260	IEP jargon	292
Tips for successful circle time	260	Paraeducator-pro	292
Integrated play groups	262	Help for the substitute teacher	293
Ready or not—here I come?	262	Teachers’ rights in special education	294
Off to kindergarten? Plan ahead	266	Appropriately trained staff	296
Beginnings and endings	266	Peer power	296
The things-to-do-later bin	268	Art therapy	297
Think cultural, think socio	268	Beginning art for the
Partnership skills	268	photo-oriented child	299
Choosing a clinician	269	Student teacher for a day	299
Choosing an educational program	269	Color walk	299
Review tests	270	Phonics hike	299
School-bus safety	270	Language yes/no game	300
Auditory processing difficulties	270	Name that classmate	300
Fire drills—red alert	271	Photo reminders	301
Teach one skill at a time	271	Pair a preferred item or task with
Reduce paper glare	272	something less-than-desirable	301
Eyes wide open	272	Concept formation	301
Participation plans	272	A-hunting we will go	302
Teaching concentration skills	273	What’s your name?	303
Cueing or prompting?	275	Mirror, mirror	303
Effective prompting	276	Teach success	303
Is this a teaching moment?	278	Is it okay to visit?	304
Moments of engagement	278	Designed with Asperger’s in mind	304
Pause and plan	278	When, when, when?	305
Selecting a keyboard font	279	Practice makes perfect	305
What happened at school today?	280	The right write stuff	305
Introducing new subjects to the		Easy sports and PE adaptations	306
child with limited interests	282	A tricycle by any other name	308
The learning triangle	283	Acclimating to group work	308
Bring the outdoors inside	283	A quick reference guide
Love your classroom	284	to successful inclusion	308
Reduce clutter	284	Curbing perseveration	310
Minimize fluorescent lighting	285	Child on the run	311
The whole classroom	285	Take it apart	311
Make wall displays meaningful	286	Down with “up”	311

Down with “down”	311	Teach spelling kinesthetically	315
Environmental learning preferences	313	My report card for teacher	316
Bridge the gap between schoolwork and “real life”	313	Summer’s over: Back-to-school strategies	318
Use individual interests to promote math skills	314	The effective advocate	319
Teach math kinesthetically	314	Mediation alert	323
More math tricks	314	Ask these important questions	324
		Creating positive partnerships	325
Endnotes	329
Index	333
About the Authors	363		